Senior Vice President – Senior Underwriter, Emigrant Bank

Paul Bannon is a veteran of Residential Mortgage lending. With over 35 years of experience, Paul has been providing service to the lending community in both the commercial and residential markets for his entire career. Paul joined the Emigrant team in 1998, after completing a 10 year run as a commercial lending officer at a community bank in Northern New Jersey. While his focus is on residential mortgage loans, his background in commercial lending has allowed Paul to focus on Emigrant's creative and innovative investor lending programs.

Much like Emigrant's lending philosophy, Paul built his career using hard work and common sense. A college path of over 15 years in the making led to the achievement of an MBA in Financial Management with Magna Cum Laude honors from Pace University in 1998. Paul is currently a First Vice President and the Senior Underwriter for Emigrant's residential lending division. He leads a team of 4 highly experienced and seasoned underwriters.

Paul works closely with the executive management team to constantly monitor the ever changing markets and economies of our lending area. Emigrant utilizes products that enhance our ability to put funds in the hands of our customers for consumer needs, as well as investment opportunities. Working with communities and clients, we consistently reach out to all sectors of the market providing financing options to credit worthy clients. If there is a lending need, Emigrant is there to provide common sense solutions.
